Cuba Underground Unity Is Claimed

NEW YORK — Cuban exiles claimed underground forces in Cuba have formed a new government that has the support of most of anti-Castro forces in Cuba.

C. P. Rafael Sergio Garcia said the government, called the Internal Council of Liberation in Arms, has as its general secretary Esteban Aquiles Morera. His news release also listed Dr. Carlos Prío Socarras, former president of Cuba, as one of the members of group.

(In Miami, Enrique Llaca Jr., secretary of the Cuban Liberation Committee, which is headed by Socarras, said he knew nothing of the reported new organization. Llaca also was named as a member.)
